Positive Relationships for Learning

The ATF GPS classes are designed to help participants teach all students effectively. Learn about how behavior and communication skills are interconnected, how trauma and poverty affect student behavior and how to capture the learning opportunities inherent in everyday mistakes. Time spent building relationships and a growth mindset pays dividends in deeper learning in our classrooms.

Poverty and Trauma

Monday, September 18, 2017

4:30 to 6:30 pm at the ATF Office

Brain changes are behavior changes. Abuse, neglect, trauma, and poverty change brain development which affects behavior. Apply relationship building and classroom strategies to repair and restore positive learning in your classroom.

Internalized Mindset

Thursday, September 28, 2017

4:30 to 6:30 pm at the ATF Office

Brain studies show that learning only happens when you make a mistake! Help your students learn from the best mistakes ever! Practice the ideas of Growth Mindset with your students to help them maximize their learning.

Growth Mindset in Math

Tuesday, October 10, 2017

4:30 to 6:30 pm at the ATF Office

Most students hold the belief that they are either good at math or not. Yet, research has shown that there is no math gene. Students' ability to live up to their potential is greatly improved when they have a growth mindset. Learn how to apply growth mindset strategies to the mathematics classroom to help students develop math skills.

Participants can attend one session or attend the entire series.
Each class builds on the depth and complexity of the previous sessions.
